

COUGH SYRUP.

DRUGGISTS

COUGH SYRUP

DRY GOODS.

CHEAP GOODS!

500 pair 3-button kid gloves at 35c a pair.

200 pair seal brown red kid at 75c.

100 doz. full regular made hose.

20 doz. misses' unbleached Schoppe's hose at 12 1/2 a pair.

25 pieces Washington figured dress goods at 15c.

10 pieces black silks below value.

500 doz. pearl buttons at 7, 8, 9, and 10c.

100 doz. hemstitched handkerchiefs at $1.50 and $2.00 per dozen, worth 33 per cent more.

We sell, ribbons, combs and fancy goods cheaper than any house in the trade.

John Emsheimer,
Eleventh St., near Second Ward Market.

I. BLUM & BRO.

ORDER DEPARTMENT.

We have now opened a special order department. Non-residents of this city can send their orders, which we will fill and forward C. O. D., with privilege of examination.

Special care taken in all orders. Address,

I. BLUM & BRO.,
104 Main Street, Wheeling, W. Va.

DENTISTRY.—TO THOSE THAT DESIRE

to save their natural teeth we would say that we are now better prepared than ever before to enable them to do so. By the use of an Improved Mammotom Plate we can and are making better and more comfortable plates than ever before. The plates are made in this city of the best material, and are guaranteed to last for years without the need of any adjustment. Call and see for yourself.

WANTED—A BOY—A GOOD BOY

can get employment by calling to day at Heller's Restaurant, next to Postoffice.

The Intelligencer.

Office 110 N. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street.

New Advertisements.

Millinery and Dress Making—Miss M. V. Keller.

For Sale Cheap—New Boiler Tubes.

For Sale—Upright Tubular Boilers.

Wanted—Nail Agency.

Carpeting—Fried & Son.

Commonwealth Distribution Company.

Excelsior Baking Powder—Logan & Co.

Wholesale Lard—Schwartz & Bro.

Coal and Coke—P. L. Kimberly.

Save Your Eyes—L. G. Dillon.

Notice to Weigh Masters.

Brickwork—Hamilton & McGrath.

Artist's Materials—W. S. Hatchine.

List of Letters.

Dissolution Notice.

For Rent—Desirable Front Rooms.

Operating—Harris & Coffey.

Order Department—J. Blum & Bro.—head of local.

Wanted—Boy—[head of local].

If your watch can't run right have it repaired by

JACOB W. GRUBBS,
Practical Watchmaker,
Cor. Twelfth and Market Sts.

BONELESS CUBISM AT

GEORGE McMECHEN'S,
No 1064 Market St.

Thermometer Record.

The following shows the range of the thermometer, as observed at Schnepf's drugstore, Opera House corner yesterday:

1280 1281
7 A. M. 72.5 8 P. M. 70.5 7 A. M. 72.5 8 P. M. 70.5

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2—1 A. M.—For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, clear or partly cloudy weather, preceded in the eastern portion by light snow, slightly rising temperature, west to south winds, and in the western portions slowly falling barometer.

For the Lower Lakes, areas of light snow, followed by clearing weather, winds generally from northwest to southwest, rising followed by falling barometer, stationary or slight rise in temperature.

SCRAPE OF NEWS.

Gathered Here and There by Intelligence Reporters.

"When the spring time comes, gentle Annie."

There is now about $2,000 in the city treasury.

One marriage license was issued yesterday by Recorder Hook.

Two deeds in fee and two trust deeds were admitted to record in the Recorder's office yesterday.

JIMMY ATWELL, formerly hostler at the Eighth Ward house, is now feeding cattle at the Benwood Mill.

A very pleasant masquerade was given at the residence of H. W. Phillips, Esq., in North Wheeling, last night.

There will be no Sunday School tomorrow in the First Presbyterian Church on account of necessary repairs to the building.

JEROME, the East Wheeling baker, who attempted suicide last Thursday, was much better yesterday, and will likely recover.

[The store of Capt. J. M. Ray, corner of Thirty-first and Chestnut streets, was attacked by four burglars last night, but the bravery of the clerk, young Bart, frightened them away.

The Wheeling Sunday School Union meets next Tuesday evening in the English Lutheran Church. The annual election of officers is to take place, hence it is desirable to have as many city Sunday school workers present.

Two streets in East Wheeling, North Wheeling, South Wheeling and between Tenth and Sixteenth streets are in a horrible condition, and the crossings are, if anything, worse. The new City Engineer, who is to be in charge of the city streets, is now in the city, and is expected to be in the city in a few days.

YESTERDAY Allee Freese swore out three warrants against Clara Mose, one for keeping a house of prostitution and the other two for selling beer without license. The cases were brought up before Justice Feltz, and continuing until next afternoon at 2 o'clock, Clara giving bond for her appearance in the sum of $200 in each case.

During April the following attractions have been booked by Manager Rietter for the Opera House: Tuesday 5th, "My Partner"; 8th and 9th, Annie Fiske; 12th, "The Two Orphans"; 15th and 16th, the Corinne Opera Company will give the "Magic Slipper"; 15th, "Romeo for Rent," by the Standard Theatrical Company; 18 and 19th, Maggie Mitchell, and 20th, Denham Thompson.

PERSONAL.

Points About People at Home and Abroad.

Major J. B. Lindsay, a veteran of the Mexican war, and the charge on Alton, is visiting friends in the city.

Oscar Townsend, General Manager of the C. T. V. W. Railroad, was at this end of the line yesterday with his special car.

Among the recent arrivals at the McClure are Col. Thomas G. Smith and Hunter Smith, of Parkersburg, and Col. C. H. Beall, of Bethany.

William Schockey, son of Captain Wm. Schockey, of the Eighth ward, returned yesterday from Chicago, where he graduated in the School of Pharmacy a few days ago.

Capt. John T. Lane, passenger traveling agent of the B. & O. R. R., returned yesterday from Kansas and Nebraska, where he had gone with a large party of emigrants gathered up in this vicinity.

Mr. R. O. Crouch, who has been in the shoe business on Twelfth street for some time, has just left Wheeling, and will hereafter be connected with an extensive house in the same line of business at Pittsburgh.

L. T. North, representing Tufts Arctic expedition, was in the city yesterday, and narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the drovers, who thought he had at the present time the plus ultra of gold.

We are under obligations to Mr. Philip Dorringer, at present located in Durnago, Col., for recent papers published in that enterprising little city. Phil says the first few days have been marked out for the next six months ago, but that the town has grown to mammoth proportions in that time, there being now nearly 150 business houses, 2 weekly papers and 1 daily paper.

Mr. Dorringer is engaged with an engineer and has been over nearly all of Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico during the past three years.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The Centre Foundry Company proposes to start up its works next week.

On account of a leaking boiler a portion of the glass factory of Hobbs, Brockmiller & Co. was off yesterday.

Today will be pay day at the Whitaker Glass Works and at the Hobbs, Brockmiller & Co.'s South Wheeling Glass Works.

One of Arlene's furniture wagons broke down on Main street near Sixteenth yesterday morning, blocking that thoroughfare for a little while.

A good indication of the business that is already doing is the fact that carpenters, paper hangers, masons, bricklayers and other skilled workmen are scarce. James McKelme, one of our prominent painters, has eleven journeymen painters at work and could use several others.

Justice Phillips' Court.

Justice Phillips had quite an array of cases yesterday.

The first one was a charge against that notorious colored individual, Jeff Davis, who was accused by Andrew Jackson with assault and battery. It seems that "Jeff" tried to arrest Jackson for the alleged theft of a watch and a pair of gloves. "Jeff" tried to force him to a "Squire" office. Hence the charge. The trial will come off to-day at 9 A. M.

Allie Freese is charged before the same Justice with carrying concealed weapons. The complaint in the case could not be learned. The case is set for this morning.

Bob McClellan was charged with stopping a boy named John Ripley. Bob confessed judgment last evening and was sentenced to the house of correction for thirty days. The youth had been battered Bob considerably by his "booting."

Upon the complaint of Mrs. J. V. Colvig, Annie Walker was arrested yesterday and brought before the Squire on a charge of attempting to kill the husband of said Colvig. Annie was admitted to bail in the sum of $200 for her appearance at 9 A. M. to-day.

Was He Here?

We were shown a letter yesterday from a gentleman in Louisville, Kentucky, to a gentleman in this city in which very earnest inquiry is made for the whereabouts of one William Lavelle, who is reported to have fallen to death at some point within three miles of this city, some three months ago. The letter goes on to state that Lavelle left a wife and family in a very destitute circumstance at Louisville, and that the gentleman who had been appointed to attend to all details of the work, form plans, and do everything possible to hasten the end desired to be accomplished by the Union.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

At a special meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held at the Second Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Rev. Thomson was elected President in place of Miss Taylor, who had declined, and Miss Annie Logan was elected Secretary in place of Mrs. Thomson. An Executive Committee was appointed to attend to all details of the work, form plans, and do everything possible to hasten the end desired to be accomplished by the Union.

BALTIMORE, MD.—I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup personally and in my family for two or three years, and am prepared to say that there is nothing to compare to it as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, etc.

If you desire to bring your friends from the Old Country you can have the choice of ten lines at the General Steamship Office, 100 Market Street. Telephone No. C-99.

A MYSTERIOUS MALADY.

Which has given Belmont County Horsemen a Severe Disease Reaches Wheeling, but is Promptly Eradicated.

Several times recently the INTELLIGENCER has contained in its telegraphic and correspondence columns mention of a disease which has been killing the horses in the southern section of Belmont county. It is variously described as a phase of the epizootic and a new malady, the nature and treatment of which is not understood. Meeting a gentleman from the section of country from which the reports come, a reporter yesterday investigated him as to the truth of the accounts to papers in various parts of the country. He was informed that while the accounts printed in different papers have been exaggerated and sensational in the extreme, yet there was foundation in fact in the reports, and that, too, of a serious nature that great uneasiness prevails all over the section of country affected.

The disease was first discovered in a mare belonging to Mr. Jackson Creamer, a well-to-do farmer residing near Key postoffice. Shortly after horses of his were affected, and the disease seemed to gravitate to Mr. Creamer's son, to this city, and Dr. Simons, a veterinary surgeon, to examine the animal, and to find that the disease was acute glanders, and refused to treat them, both because the disease is absolutely incurable and because of the danger of inoculation with the dread malady, which the Doctor yesterday told us, is as deadly as small pox. The ailment affects the lungs, throat and nostrils, and is violently contagious, though not epizootic.

The disease, which is so horrible that it is almost impossible to describe it, has been reported by some of the citizens of the county to Governor Foster. Those of the people there who have horses that are not afflicted think they ought to be protected; hence the complaint to Governor Foster, who is taking no action by ordering to be killed all horses sick of the dread disease. They not only want the horses killed, but they want the carcasses burned. The Governor's reply to the communication on the subject referred the writer thereto to section No. 6853, Revised Code, which reads: "The Governor may, in his discretion, order the killing of any animal which he deems to be a pest, and may order the carcass of such animal to be destroyed." The Governor also advised that the matter be put in the hands of the Prosecuting Attorney of Belmont county, which has been done.

What action will be taken by the official we could not learn, but the gentlemen with whom we talked yesterday said considerable uneasiness prevails over the river from the fact that one of the horses affected, instead of being shot and cremated, was turned loose upon the public highway. All authorities agree that the only safety from inoculation is the destruction of the corpse of the animal, and the thorough disinfection of the stall or other enclosure occupied by him.

Several cases of the disease are said to have occurred at Bellaire some time ago, just prior to the sickness of Mr. Creamer's first horse, and as he is a frequent traveler, it seems a fair presumption that the contagion there encountered was the origin of the trouble. That is, however, a score, the loss falling upon some three or four farmers in the same neighborhood and a Bellaire liverman.

What makes the disease of peculiar interest to Belmont county horsemen is the fact that it has made its way into this city. Some days ago Dr. Simons was called to treat a horse belonging to Mayor Egerton, and discovered that it was in an advanced stage of glanders. He advised the owner to destroy the horse, and to have the stall and the horse's harness disinfected. The doctor's advice was taken, and the horse was killed and the stall and harness disinfected.

The disease, it is said, may originate from the dampness or poor ventilation of stables, as well as from contagion. It is sometimes chronic, but generally acute, and mules suffer worse than horses. The danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bagatelle in comparison to an epidemic of a disease such as has been raging for some time past in Belmont county, because epizootic is not necessarily fatal, while the other is sure death to the animal. The disease is said to be spreading, and the danger of inoculation is the most serious, and the disease is said to be just the same as to horses, and the disease in man just as certain to result fatally. Speaking of the plague, a correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says: "That it doubt, to a serious extent there is no doubt, and it is equally certain that it is spreading. Its extension across the borders of Belmont county is only a question of time, unless it be eradicated immediately. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated, on account of the malignity and danger of the disease. And the horse and mule would be a mere bag